

October 16, 2009

Dear Students, Parents, Faculty and Staff:

From October 17th through December 4th, the Stonewall Jackson High School Library is holding its first ever virtual book fair.

To access the online book fair, use the following web address: www.bookwormcentral.com, Once you have reached the Bookworm Central homepage, about midway down the center of that page, you will see a box labeled Organization Code. Enter "Stonewall Jackson" into the space and click on "Go."

While there is a wide variety of print material available for purchase, the library staff would like to call your attention to the link entitled School Recommendations. Here you will find specific links to required, recommended, and summer reading program lists by grade level, IB and IBMYP readings, plus a number of bestsellers.

Please be aware that in order to make purchases, it will be necessary to set up an individual account. This takes a matter of minutes and does require a credit card.

Do a little shopping to support coursework or for holiday gift-giving. Remember that the library will receive 30% of the total sales in new books!

Thanks in advance for your patronage.
